

Miami Heat visits Charles R. Hadley

Elementary Summer Camp

Last week the Miami Heat Dancers, Burney and Mr. Tim Hardaway visited the children attending summer camp at Charles R. Hadley Elementary. This is part of a campaign run by the Division of Food, Nutrition and Wellness from the Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services.

The campaign is to make the community aware of the services provided by the Summer Food Service Program. In Miami-Dade County Public Schools, the Summer Meals Program provides free breakfast and lunch at every school open for summer session or summer camp. On a daily basis the Department of Food and Nutrition for MDCPS is providing 6,500 breakfasts and 16,000 lunches. The Summer Meals program provides nutritious and balanced meals to children when regular school is out.

Mr. Tim Hardaway spoke to the summer campers about maintaining a healthy body and mind, the importance of eating healthy and staying active.

Burney and the Miami Heat Dancers provided great entertainment to the children and with the assistance of Mr. Hardaway served the summer lunch to all the campers.

This activity could not have been successful without the assistance of Ms. Ms. Menchero and Ms. Chavez-Esteban. Their enthusiasm made this event a success for the Department of Agriculture and most importantly for the children at Hadley Elementary.

Miami-Dade County Public Schools and the Department of Food and Nutrition thanks the Miami Heat organization for their time and positive energy to the MDCPS children.

GO HEAT!!!

And finally, thank you to the Division of Food, Nutrition and Wellness from the Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services for providing our community with a fun activity that instructs the children the benefits of good nutrition and the great service the Summer Meals Program provides.
